NEW TRADE-UNIONISM.

INVERSION OF FUNDS LEGAL.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

REVOLTS IN THE EAST.

OTTOMAN DISCONTENT.

YOUNG TURKEY PARTY.

LONDON, July 21.

In a test case brought by the secretary of the Wallenstein branch of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Men against that society, Mr. Justice Neville, sitting in the King's Bench Division, held that trade union funds could be employed to influence legislation by securing representation in the House of Commons. A trade union, he said, had as much right to support politicians as Conservatives or Liberals.

The "Daily Mail" writes that Mr. Justice Neville's decision is of the first importance, since a trade unionist can be compelled to assist socialism by his intransigent contributions.

The "Daily News" writes that the decision is sound sense, also a vindication of liberty.

The "Daily Chronicle" states that trade unions have now a free hand to be as political as they choose. They can subdivide socialism if they like.

STRENGTH OF THE ARMY.

BRITISH CABINET DIVIDED.

LONDON, July 22.

The "Daily Express" states that a Cabinet crisis which threatened the resignation of four Ministers, with perhaps the entire Army Council, ended with the defeat of the second party, which was determined to reduce the army to the barest proportions. BRITISH NAVAL MANOEUVRES.

GERMAN ONLOOKERS.

LONDON, July 22.

The presence of the German gunboat Elster, in the vicinity of the British naval manoeuvres in the North Sea, caused consternation in the league against the franchise act—the spirit of sex-antagonism, which is being aroused by the armament manufacturers. The fact is that the respective sexes of men and women are neither antagonistic nor identical, but complementary: the idea of "man-woman" representation should have a voice, which contradicts Mr. Asquith's second postulate that the franchises should be democratic, which means that men and women should not be partners in law-enforcing; many would object to having the vote forced upon them, since if they were to have their hands laid on them it would be fatal to discord, and if they did it would deprive their votes.

The league makes a sharp distinction between the Parliamentary and the franchise acts, and much of the work which is done by municipal bodies in which women have a right to be heard, and which they can do very effectively, is done by the national sphere of work, which ultimately upon an army and navy, in which women cannot serve, and as to the strength of which they ought to have no voice.

WRECK OFF CALIFORNIA.

GERMAN LINER POUNDING TO PIECES.

The Anubis, which was formerly known as the Lucania, had a length of 400 feet and a tonnage of 4,698 tons net. She was built in 1888 by J. L. Thompson and Sons, Limited, of Sunderland, and her principal dimensions were 400 feet long, 42 feet wide, and 26 feet 2 inches deep.

The propelling machinery of the Anubis consisted of a set of triple expansion engines, built by G. Clark, Limited, of Sunderland, and a set of turbines, built by J. L. Lloyd's. She was owned by the "Kosmos" Deutsche Dampfschiffahrtsgesellschaft, of Hamburg.

REVOLTS IN THE EAST.

EXTENSION TO GROCERS.

COMMONS DECISIVE REJECTION.

LONDON, July 21.

Four young officers in the garrison at Servia, the largest and most important town in East Macedonia, killed their colonel.

Lord Edmund Talbot (Conservative) moved that the clause should apply to grocers and off-licences.

Mr. H. Gladstone, Home Secretary, opposed the amendment, arguing that it would necessitate a separate compensation scheme and a new scale of reduction.

Mr. A. J. Balfour, leader of the Unionists, in a fiery speech impugned the sincerity of the Government in the matter of temperance reform. The Government, he said, attacked on-licences because it wished to plunder its political enemies, but it dared not attack off-licences, because it was afraid to quarrel with its political friends.

The "Daily News" writes that the decision is sound sense, also a vindication of liberty.

The "Daily Chronicle" states that trade unions have now a free hand to be as political as they choose. They can subdivide socialism if they like.
